This collection consists of two Hollinger boxes. The first box is organized according to seven subject headings: correspondence, genealogy, poetry, diaries, bankbooks, photographs, and miscellany. The second box contains assorted items—a family bible which dates from 1813, a large number of 19th century popular songs preserved in two bound volumes of sheet music once kept by Julia Pope, two diplomas and two certificates of academic distinction.

The correspondence to be found in the first box dates from 1845 to 1913 centering upon the Civil War period. Marcellus Stanley was first a captain and then a major in the confederate army. He and his wife Julia (Pope) often wrote to each other while he was at war. The correspondence serves to relate details of family life during the period. Details of battlefront and armed service obviously are also related. Capt. Stanley served under Col. Thos. R. R. Cobb in the Georgia Legion for two years before his promotion to Major and transfer to the command of Brig. Gen. Howell Cobb. Both of the latter dignitaries have left behind items in this collection. Also of interest is a letter commanding the mobilization of troops at the start of the war signed by then Gov. Joseph E. Brown and a report on an engagement of troops written by Capt. Stanley. Under the heading of 'miscellany' are three other Civil War-related items—two of Capt. Stanley's muster rolls and a hand-drawn plan of fortifications "from Norfolk to Fortress Monroe" which is not dated and has not been authenticated. This is the extent of the correspondence; there is but one other folder of miscellany and its contents are listed, as is everything, in the following inventory.

The genealogy available for research is that of the Strong, Pope, and Stanley families for the most part. A report on the "colonial and revolutionary services" of several related gentlemen which is very well documented is included together with a chart of the Pope-Stanley family tree and some notes on various people. The photographs, though few in number and not well identified, may also be of interest to the researcher. Rev. A. A. Lipscomb wrote two poems and a eulogy which come under the heading of poetry; all three pieces were written in tribute to Paul Hamilton Hayne. The diary is that of Julia Pope and spans not quite a year's time during 1862. The bankbooks are those of Marcellus Stanley and span about six years' time, 1884-1889.

Lucy May Stanton (1875-1931), art teacher and miniature portrait painter, born in Atlanta, Georgia.

The collection consists of papers of Lucy May Stanton from 1889-1931. Includes correspondence, notebooks, account books, diaries, sketchbooks, printed materials, photographs, clippings, and research materials. The diaries, notebooks, and sketchbooks describe Stanton's methods and processes followed in her painting. The photographs consist of black and white reproductions of Stanton's miniatures, pastels, and oils. The correspondence pertains to commissions for Stanton's work as well as personal correspondence from John Burroughs, Laura Coombes Hills, George and Mabel Sarton, May Sarton, and Stanton's sister, Willie Marion Forbes.

Stegeman-Willingman Collection Description MS. No. 2493

In 1983, Agee Publishers, Inc. of Athens, GA published "Touchdown: A Pictorial History of the Georgia Bulldogs" by John E. Stegeman and Robert M. "Skeet" Willingham, Jr. This collection consists of correspondence between the co-author and the publisher, and significant figures in Georgia football who provided blurbs for the book. Most valuable however, is the extensive reservoir of photographs and negatives collected while researching the history of Georgia football. Showing not only great Georgia players and great Georgia plays; these photographs also give an insight into the changing styles of dress on campus and the development of University architecture.

Naturally, the emphasis of the photographs and text in this collection is toward Georgia football, yet a researcher looking at the history of southern collegiate life in general (and sports in particular) would find this collection useful!

Scope and Content Note

This collection contains the correspondence, diary, writings, etc. of Robert G. Stone, a Confederate soldier in Company K, 15th Georgia Regiment. Stone's few letters and diary entries follow his service from 1860 through 1865, when he surrendered at Appomattox Court House shortly before Gen. Lee's surrender. Stone left Sparta, Ga. in 1860 and served in battles at Chattanooga, Richmond, Antietam, 2nd Manassas, Sharpsburg, etc. His activities were recorded on a bible cover which is part of this collection.

Several land plats and indentures to property in Hancock and Washington Counties are included, as well as Stone's C.S.A. cuff link and medals.

DESCRIPTION Genealogical information relating to the family of Bonnell Harold Stone (1887 Oxford GA - 1935 Oxford GA). Mr. Stone was the founder of Georgia Forestry Assn and is in the Georgia Foresters' Hall of Fame. He worked for Pfister and Vogel Land Co in Blairsville for many years and helped get the road through Neel's Gap connecting Georgia & Tennessee. Includes notes, 1st draft and final draft of biog. & TLS from Mildred Mayo, dau of Stone, regarding her father.
DESCRIPTION

This 80 page journal, which begins on New Year's Day, 1864, and breaks off incomplete in late July of the same year, was written by an ardent Union sympathizer living near Atlanta. In eloquent and flowery language she describes her life as the Federal Army moves south from Chattanooga.

There are long tirades against all things southern including diatribes directed toward the leaders of the Confederacy - Howell Cobb, Jefferson Davis and others.

Some of the footnotes are comments which evidently were added later.

The account includes a description of the hardships of life in the South; the Negroes' reactions to the Emancipation Proclamation; a list of prices for food and clothing; a review of an issue of Harper's Magazine; the fall of towns such as Tunnel Hill, Dalton, Resaca, etc.; visits to prisons and hospitals; preparations of fortifications; shellings and cannonadings; and, finally, Miss Abby's evacuation of her home. The account is incomplete and a number of pages are missing.

Miss Abby's full name still remains anonymous, but it is now known to be Mrs. Abby ______.

STORER'S COMPANY HISTORY

Storer Communications, Inc. is one of the oldest communications companies in the United States. It is also one of the largest, serving approximately 1.5 million cable television subscribers in 12 states.

Storer's predecessor company was founded in 1927 in Toledo, Ohio, by George B. Storer. Initially involved in the retail distribution of petroleum products, the then-named Fort Industry Oil Company purchased the Toledo radio station that broadcasted its advertisements. Radio was just beginning to take root as a popular source of information and entertainment, making it an ideal advertising medium.

In 1931, the company sold its filling stations and dropped "Oil" from its name. Fort Industry acquired additional radio properties in Michigan, West Virginia and Ohio. By 1946, it was one of the country's largest broadcasters, with radio stations in Ohio, Detroit, West Virginia, Georgia and Florida.

In 1948, the Company became the first independent broadcaster to enter the television industry by simultaneously licensing and launching three television stations, in Atlanta, Detroit and Toledo. Storer subsequently acquired stations in Milwaukee, Cleveland, Boston and San Diego. The Company's name was changed to Storer Broadcasting Company in 1953, concurrent with the first public offering of its common stock. In the same year its corporate offices were moved to Miami from Detroit. The radio stations were subsequently sold to fund a portion of the cable expansion program.

Storer has been a pioneer in the cable television industry since entering the field in 1963. Its Cable Communications Division grew gradually during the next decade through the acquisition of cable systems in California, Florida, Georgia and Alabama. With the advent of satellite and broadband communications technology, in the late 1970's, the company embarked on the industry's most aggressive franchising and acquisition program catapulting Storer to its status as the country's fourth-largest cable system operator.

Storer Broadcasting Company's name was changed to Storer Communications, Inc. in 1983, indicating the Company's commitment to the fields of television and cable television.

During the mid-1980's, Storer embarked on a consolidation program which involved acquiring cable systems adjacent to its existing operations and the sale of certain standalone systems. Its largest operating units serve Montgomery, Alabama; Little Rock, Arkansas; New Haven, Connecticut; Dover, Delaware; Dade and Broward Counties, Florida; Sarasota, Florida; Albany, Georgia; Louisville, Kentucky; Northern Kentucky (Cincinnati suburbs); Howard County, Maryland; Middlesex and Monmouth Counties, New Jersey; Charleston, South Carolina; Dallas,
In December, 1985, Storer was acquired by SCI Holdings, Inc., a privately held company organized by the private investment firm of Kohlberg Kravis Roberts and Co. The Company's seven television stations were sold in 1987. In November of 1988, SCI Holdings was purchased by affiliates of Comcast Corporation and Tele-Communications, Inc. (TCI). The affiliate of TCI is 30% owned by TKR Cable, a 50/50 venture involving TCI and Knight Ridder, Inc. As a result, Storer is owned 50% by Comcast, 42.5% by Tele-Communications, Inc. and 7.5% by Knight Ridder, Inc. Storer continues to operate as an independent company following the transaction.

Storer currently employs over 2,900 personnel who, like their predecessors for more than 60 years, follow this business creed:

"We seek:

- to serve our customers as effectively as possible,
- to run our business with a sense of competitive urgency,
- to maintain the highest ethical and professional standards,
- to offer outstanding career opportunities,
- to make Storer an exciting place to work and,
- to earn the respect and confidence of our customers, our employees, our ownership and the communities we serve.

In all things, to strive for excellence.

Achieve these, and profits follow."
DESCRIPTION

Written 21 August 1862, this three page letter from Pleasant Stovall in Athens to his son Bolling Anthony Stovall, then a lieutenant in the Confederate Army at Chattanooga, discusses in great detail business and social happenings in Athens and vicinity. The elder Stovall advises his son on investments. Concerning Confederate bonds, he says "now as to their being ultimately paid there is little doubt, if our independence is acknowledged [sic] or established -- if not, they will be as good as any other property, as all Southern property will be confiscated ..." He also details the methods of obtaining a substitute for Cobb's Legion.
DESCRIPTION

This four-page deed from Cornelius S.S. Leary to Ebenezer Strahan concerns land situate in Baltimore, Maryland. Strahan was the progenitor of the Athens, Georgia, family, thus his association expands the interest in this document. It is dated 26 March 1853. Also in pencil at the head of page four are notations of genealogical interest relating to the Strahan family.

Strohecker, Frances.
Frances Strohecker papers, 1918, 1944-1945.
28 items.

Arranged in chronological order.

The collection consists of correspondence and photographs of Frances Strohecker of Macon, Georgia from 1918, 1944-1945. Includes two letters (1918) to Strohecker from Robert Woodall while in France serving with Company F of the 101st Infantry Division discussing news of friends and movements of the 101st. The bulk of the letters (1944-1945), were written to Strohecker from Jack Freeman Pool during his service in France, Belgium, and Germany during World War II. Pool describes camp life; trips to Paris (France), Bavaria, and Germany; the destruction in France and Germany; the German people; and military administration in post-war Germany. The collection also contains photographs of World War I soldiers, mainly at Camp Wheeler, Georgia, and photographs of Jack Freeman Pool in Europe.

DESCRIPTION

Two letters, one dated June 21, 1977 and one letter undated but probably sometime shortly after the previous one, from Stuart (Greenup, Kentucky) to Reverend David Ogletree. Both letters concern works by Ogletree and include a discussion of Georgia author, Byron Herbert Reece.
DESCRIPTION
Two postcards from W. H. (Bud) Stuckey in Japan both written on September 28, 1945. Stuckey was in the Marines April 1939 - November 1945 and served with VMF-1, VMF-121 (Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands), and VMF(N)-542 (Carolines, Okinawa, Japan). The letters were written soon after World War II was over and describe the Japanese children begging for food and the attitude of the Japanese towards the American soldiers.

Susanna Cummings (Ship)
Susanna Cummings (Ship) records, 1840-1846.
.5 linear ft.

Susanna Cummings (Ship) out of Portsmouth (N.H.). Operated between Portsmouth, Boston (Mass.), New York (N.Y.), Baltimore (Md.), Savannah (Ga.), Mobile (Ala.), and Liverpool (England).

The collection consists of papers relating to the ship Susanna Cummings (Portsmouth, N.H.) from November, 1840 - June, 1846. The papers include correspondence, bills, receipts, vouchers, freight lists, inventories, cargo manifests, custom house receipts, disbursements, and accounts. The materials document the ship's commercial voyages between the eastern and southern seaboard of the United States and England. In particular, the materials detail cotton and commodity prices, ship damage due to a storm off England and the settlement of claims pertaining to cargo and the crew, as well as repairing and outfitting the vessel. About one-third of the material pertains to activities at Mobile (Ala.) and Savannah (Ga.)
