United Spanish War Veterans. Dept. of Georgia.
Dept. of Georgia records, [ca. 1891-1966].
10.5 linear ft.

The Georgia Dept. of the United Spanish War Veterans was established in 1922.

The collection consists of records of the Georgia Dept. of the United Spanish War Veterans from ca. 1891-1966. The records document the activities of the Georgia Dept. as well as the national chapter, and the Georgia Auxiliary. Includes correspondence; minutes; annual reports; newspaper clippings; printed material such as programs, proceedings, and handbooks; and scrapbooks. Includes records of the Oscar J. Brown Auxiliary (Athens, Ga.), the Archie Butts Camp No. 5 (Augusta, Ga.), and the records (1891-1932) of Bertha A. Gossett, president of the Georgia Auxiliary.

United States. Army.
United States Army horse and mule records, 1865-1868.
1 v.

Arranged by location and date.

The collection consists of a twenty-three page ledger containing detailed records from the government corrals at Doctortown and Savannah, Georgia operated by the Federal Army of Occupation, Sub-District Altamaha. Chiefly in the handwriting of Lt. A.B. Godwin, the ledger lists names of drivers, teamsters, and wagon masters; amounts of grain issued and received; blacksmithing; miscellaneous supplies; and the condition of horses and mules with notes on purchases.

DESCRIPTION: A loose-leaf volume of the history of the unit done in 1940's but with comments by Shearouse 42 years later. The book chronicles the unit from its beginning in 1943 through the Normandy Invasion on Utah Beach on 6 June 1944, on through Paris & Sedan France into Belgium, Holland and Germany. Included are unit commendations, rosters, other vital statistics. Indexed, 167 pages.
This roster which includes the group picture is on Company G, 2nd Regiment, Infantry Georgia Volunteers which served in the Spanish-American War.

Located in oversize drawer.
United States. Army. Infantry Regiment, 27th (The Wolfhounds)

The 27th Infantry Regiment’s history extends back to the early 1800’s and the unit has seen service in many actions. It became known as ‘The Wolfhounds’ shortly after WWI when the unit participated in the American Expeditionary Forces to Siberia. The Bolshevik forces likened the regiment’s advances to the wolfhound, a fleet, fearless dog native to Siberia. By 1952, the Department of the Army officially recognized the nickname and authorized its use as a parenthetical designation to follow the numerical designation. The 27th participated in the Philippine Insurrection, WWI (Siberia), WWII (the Pacific), Korea and Viet Nam. Currently two active battalions, the 1st and 2d, are stationed at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, where there is a historical museum. Since WWII the unit has maintained an active association with the Holy Family Home in Osaka, Japan.

The University of Georgia Libraries was designated the Wolfhound archives in 2000. The collection consists of books, papers, correspondence, personal narratives, propaganda material, photographs, and artifacts contributed by soldiers and families who have served with or are connected with soldiers who served with the Wolfhounds. The collection is expected to continue to grow.

1. Quartermasters--Georgia
DESCRIPTION

This telegram was given by Homer Lewallen, who was a member of the U. S. Army Signal Corps stationed in Europe at the end of World War I. It was his duty to destroy the records and communications no longer needed by the Army. He saved as a souvenir a telegram dated Washington, Oct. 14, 1918, making public a note from the Secretary of State, Robert Lansing, to "charge D'Affaires of Switzerland ad interim in charge of German interests in the United States."

Someone has pencilled on one corner of the two-page document the main points of the terms of surrender:
1. Armistice under military safeguards & guarantees.
2. No armistice while inhumanity persists.
3. No dealings with Hohenzollerns.

The name typed at the end of the telegram is NED ROBERT LANSING.
DESCRIPTION

These pictures were taken by the U.S. Army Signal Corps during World War I. They show various scenes such as soldiers, prisoners-of-war, captured areas, etc. They were taken in France.

Deposited by: 7260 Beverly Boulevard
Purchased from: Los Angeles, CA 90036

Date & method of arrival: Fall, 1985

DESCRIPTION

"This rare ship log gives vibrant and human background to the lifeless prose of Civil War history. Endless problems with poor food, drunkeness, illness, etc., etc., gives the reader excellent insight into shipboard life during the prolonged service on station."

Details action both on land and shore relating to the blockade of the city and port of Savannah. The "Western World", a steamer, was involved in numerous skirmishes with Confederate steamers.

1 v.

The University of Cambridge Amateur Dramatic Club was established in 1855 by F.C. Burnand and was Britain's first permanent university theater group. Originally the Club produced farces, burlesques, and the efforts of Burnand himself. However, by the 1870's, the Club concentrated on comedy productions. The collection consists of a photographic album of the University of Cambridge Amateur Dramatic Club from 1874-1877. The album contains 185 photographs of 10 comic productions. Each photograph is labeled with the actor and character's name.

Scope and Content Note

The Van Giesen Family Collection contains the manuscript materials of the Uriah Van Giesen family of Savannah. The collection includes correspondence, legal documents, clippings, etc. of the extended family, but the bulk of the collection relates to Van Giesen's service to the Confederacy in Co. B, 2nd Ga. Battalion. His diary, correspondence and military papers detail his service until 1864 when he was discharged because of chronic hepatitis. Van Giesen was born in Paterson, New Jersey and became a dentist, a profession which he resumed in Savannah after the war.

Also included are some materials of Van Giesen's son Frank S. Van Giesen, also of Savannah. Frank Van Giesen served as magistrate in Savannah and also worked at a brokerage firm. He married Carrie Ancker of Philadelphia. Some materials in the collection relate to Ancker's ancestors.

All manuscript materials have been photocopied for preservation and are placed with the originals.

DESCRIPTION

Ellison Van Hoose (1868 Murfresboro TN - 1936 Houston TX) grew up in Gainesville GA where his father was a Baptist minister and brother, A. W. was president of Brenau College. He studied voice in NY, Rome, Paris and sang with the Metropolitan Opera & Chicago Opera and was elected to membership in American Academy of Teachers of Singing.

Letters in collection are from sister-in-law, Mrs. A. W. Van Hoose and Mrs. Elizabeth Van Hoose Glover giving biographical information. There is a copy of an obituary resume of his life from a Houston TX paper.
DESCRIPTION

Ms 2621 (M) consists of one postcard with four folds depicting photographs of various buildings and students of the Vashti School of Thomasville, GA, "a school for dependent girls between the ages of ten and sixteen." An explanation of the school's doctrines is also included on one of the card's folds. The Vashti School was operated by the Board of Missions Woman's Work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South for the purpose of training "each girl to become a good home maker in connection with her scholastic attainments." According to the postcard, "this institution is twenty-five years old and is outstanding throughout the Southern land because of the splendid young womanhood it has been able to develop and place in positions of usefulness."
DESCRIPTION:

Last will and testament of John Vason of Morgan County, Ga., a complex document dividing the estate evenly amongst his wife, Rebecca and the children, Nancy Vason Woods, Eliza Vason Hemphill, William Vason, Pope Vason, Emily Owens Vason, David A. Vason and John Vason, after a series of delineated charges had been deducted from the estate.

Vaughan, John B., 1862-1918.
John B. Vaughn papers, 1884-1938.
.5 linear ft.

Arranged by record type.

John B. Vaughan (1862-1918), hymn composer, owner of J.B. Vaughan music publishing company, resided in Athens, Georgia.

The collection consists of papers of John B. Vaughan from 1884-1938. The papers include correspondence, music manuscripts, and printed material. The correspondence (1884-1938) contains mainly letters from other people ordering copies of Vaughan's song books or sending him lyrics or music for consideration. The music manuscripts include hymns composed by Vaughan and his wife and ones composed (verse and/or music) by other people. The printed material consists mainly of published hymns by a variety of composers.

Two manuscript volumes from the famous Vilmorin-Andrieux Collection. The collection consists of approximately 3,500 volumes that comprised the library of the commercial seed and plant firm named for two distinguished botanists, Pierre d'Andrieux (botanist to Louis XV) and Philippe Victoire Leveque de Vilmorin. The firm, which dates back into the 18th century, was operated into the 20th century by descendants of the founders who continued to build this rich collection. It is international in scope and consists mainly of scientific and agricultural publications. The two volumes are:

1.) Observation Sur les Plantes.

2.) Usages et Parties Employées des Differents Végétaux.
